

House Passes Bill To Permit School Districts To Raise Their Tax Rates

Would Permit
Maximum Levy of 65c Per $100

SPRINGFIELD — A bill to permit downstate school districts to raise their tax rates for schools went to the Senate today with House approval.

The bill, backed by the School Problems Commission, was passed in the House Tuesday.

It would permit elementary school districts to levy a maximum rate of 65 cents per $100 valuation without referendum, instead of the present 50 cents, and to boost levies from $1.25 to $1.40 with a referendum.

Districts operating both elementary and high schools would be permitted to increase their tax rates from $1 to $1.25 with only a "back door referendum." That is a referendum would be required only if demanded by 5 per cent of the voters.

With a formal referendum these districts would be allowed to raise their levies from $2 to $2.50.

Rep. Charles W. Clabaugh, School Problems Commission chairman, said the bill would bring the state's elementary districts up to the tax level permitted for high school districts, and also would destroy arguments by some school districts for not raising their local taxes to meet educational needs.

He said some 265 districts now levy the minimum 50 cents rate and argue they cannot increase it because they cannot get the voters to approve an increase by referendum.

The maximum rate for high school districts without referendum was increased from 50 cents to 65 cents in 1955.

The House also passed and sent to the Governor bills appropriating a record-high 103 million dollar operating budget for the University of Illinois for the coming year. Also passed to the Governor was a $17,975,000 appropriation for capital improvements at the university.

Sent to Senate
Passed and sent to the Senate was a state "quick take" bill to permit condemnation of property for highway construction with the state taking immediate possession. Litigation over any condemnation action would be settled in the courts after the state had obtained possession of the land.

The House moved to the Senate a "right-to-know" bill requiring that all meetings of state and other governmental units be open to the public.

Other bills passed in the House and sent to the Senate would:

Create a commission to study the possibilities for restoring to use land stripped by mining operations.

Appropriate $1,075,000 for the state's share of the salaries of county farm and home advisers.

Set up survey committees in each county to study possible further consolidation of school districts.

Permit courts to order persons thought to be suffering from mental illness to be held for diagnosis, care and treatment at regional mental health centers for up to 60 days.

Question About Bid

Purchase of New Parking Meters Again Put Off By City Council

The question of buying some new parking meters to replace some antiquated ones around town came up again at the Tuesday meeting of the Harrisburg city council and again was put off.

At the previous meeting Mayor Claud Gibbons declared a motion to do something about meters out of order and there the matter stood.

Tuesday the proposition came up again and the council voted unanimously to dispose of the meter problem.

Then there was disagreement over the meaning of the bid submitted by the Magee-Hale Park-O-Meter Co. and the question of buying meters was put off again, or until after Byron Hogan, representative of the company, comes here and explains the bid. He was contacted at Springfield by telephone and said he would be here Friday.

Thank Flood Workers

The disagreement appeared to be just what would be supplied by the company for the quoted price. The other bidder was the Duncan Meter Co., represented by Orval Nelson.

SIU Students to Feast on 'Semantic Smorgasbord'

CARBONDALE, Ill. — A "semantic smorgasbord" is being planned Thursday for advanced semantics students at Southern Illinois University.

The idea, said Dr. Paul Hunsinger, associate professor of speech, is to prove words and things are not the same.

The banquet menu will include fried grasshoppers, snake meat and dried squid. But none of the entrees will be identified for the diners.

"We're trying to prove that a grasshopper by any other name may be delicious," Hunsinger said.

Young Divorcee Leaps to Death From 38th Floor

CHICAGO — Chicago police today sought to unravel the mystery of how a young divorcee gained entrance to a 38th floor office from which she plunged to her death.

The woman, identified by a dentist's receipt as Mrs. Marie Devaney, 32, apparently jumped from the office of Thomas P. McGuire, a grain broker, late Tuesday. The velocity of her fall ripped all her garments except her underclothing from her body.

Mrs. Devaney, the mother of a boy aged 7, struck a ledge of the Insurance Exchange Building and broke a glass door when her body hit the "dewalk."

She leaped or fell from the Board of Trade Building, Chicago's second tallest building, located across the street from the Insurance Exchange Building, a distance of 60 feet.

Police reconstructed Mrs. Devaney's actions after some of her garments and bloodstains were found in McGuire's office by a scrubwoman. She slashed her wrists in a washbasin, awaited death, and then went to the window. Before plunging, she removed her shoes and red coat and left them alongside her purse.

Mrs. Devaney was employed by American Barge Lines, whose offices are adjacent to McGuire's.

However, J. J. Kane, office manager for McGuire's office, told police he had closed the offices for the night several hours before Mrs. Devaney's fall.

A four-foot wide ledge extends from the offices of American Barge Lines to McGuire's office, and it was thought Mrs. Devaney entered McGuire's office by this route.

Police said McGuire apparently had no connection with the case. Mrs. Devaney was estranged from her husband two years ago.

Faith, Honest Effort and Social Co-Operation Things We Need Most, Dr. Woods Tells HTHS Graduates

Murray State College President Speaks at Exercises

Dr. Ralph Woods told the graduating class at the 54th annual Commencement exercises at Harrisburg Township high school Tuesday night that "the three things we need most are faith, honest effort and social co-operation."

The president of Murray (Ky.) State College also said that the learned must lead the unlearned, the faithful the faithless, the calm the scared, the strong the weak, the selfless the selfish, the thinking the unthinking and the tolerant the intolerant in his address at the Commencement, held in Davenport gymnasium.

Taking up his three points, Dr. Woods declared:

Faith: There is no road to success except through a competitive faith. If you lose faith you lose all. We must have faith in ourselves, in each other, in God. No force can stand up against a strong faith.

No Longer Isolated

Honest Effort: Honest effort must certainly does pay. Something we want cannot be obtained for nothing. Perseverance is a big word in honest effort.

Social Co-Operation: This is defined as learning to live with fellow man. There was a time when this country was isolated, but no longer. Whatever happens today, wherever it is, affects us. If we're going to learn to live with our differences, we must start in our own community, and if we learn to get along with each other, maybe we can prevent war, "and I don't mean to say, 'Peace at any price'."

Special recognition was given members of the graduating class who previously had not been given the recognition.

U. S. Will Follow Case

Eisenhower is Confident Girard Will Get Fair Trial in Japan

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower said today he is confident William S. Girard, the American GI, will get a fair trial in Japanese courts.

He told his news conference that the U. S. government will follow the case every step of the way and intervene through diplomatic channels if it appears that any injustice might be done.

Eisenhower praised the Japanese judicial system. He said U. S. legal experts have told him Japanese courts have been eminently fair in the trials of American soldiers who came under their jurisdiction.

Girard, an Army Specialist 3C, is accused of killing a Japanese woman, Mrs. Naha Sakai, while she was scavenging for empty cartridge shells on a U. S. firing range last January.

Say Treaty Essential
U. S. and Japanese authorities argued for weeks over who should bring him to trial and the United States announced Tuesday that he would be turned over to the Japanese courts since he acted "outside" his duties when he fired on Mrs. Sakai.

The Defense and State departments rejected demands by some congressmen that the "status of forces" agreement be abrogated. Spokesmen for both departments said such treaties are essential if the United States wants to keep its troops on foreign soil.

Tuesday's decision to turn the Army Specialist 3C over to the Japanese courts touched off a storm of protest in this country. Investigations were ordered in

Red Cross Chapter Receives 20 Applications For Flood Relief

The Saline county chapter of the American Red Cross has received 20 applications for flood disaster relief in Harrisburg, John W. Douglas of the St. Louis Red Cross office declared.

After the situation is taken care of, he said, the number of persons assisted and the total amount of assistance given will be made available.

both House and Senate. A two-man Senate armed services subcommittee called defense officials to explain behind closed doors today. Sen. Ralph E. Flanders (R-Vt.), one of the members, called the Girard decision "outrageous."

He told a reporter a "very serious error" was made in the Pentagon "and we want to see who actually made it."

Military officials pointed out that under Girard's indictment by the Japanese for causing death by wounding—the most lenient homicide charge in the Japanese criminal code—Girard would be liable to a sentence of 2-15 years in prison.

They said a U. S. court-martial sentence would be three years. They were not clear whether this would be the minimum sentence that could be imposed, and indicated the possible penalty might be higher.

No Decision on India

Disarmament Talks Begin Six-Day Recess

LONDON — The five-power disarmament conference broke up for a six-day recess today without deciding on India's demand to enter the talks.

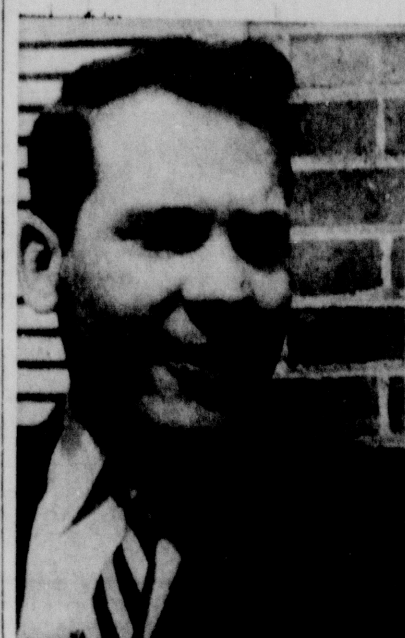

The request from India threatened a sudden East-West split, with Russia supporting it and Britain, France, Canada and the United States opposing it.

But no decision was taken pending the long recess for Britain's Whitmonday weekend national holiday. The talks resume next Tuesday. Diplomats believe U. S. delegate Harold E. Stassen would be ready to begin presenting the new American first step partial disarmament plan then.

The Soviet Union thus far has exploited the delay in presenting the new American plan with propaganda statements aimed at cashing in on worldwide fear of further nuclear weapons tests.

Future Use In War Must Be Prohibited

President Says U. S. Will Not Again Test Large H-Bomb

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower said today he favors a total ban on testing nuclear weapons, provided such a prohibition is linked firmly to an international agreement—backed up by inspection—prohibiting forever the future use of such weapons in war.

The President's news conference remarks on bomb testing stemmed from the current controversy over the effects of radioactivity generated by such tests.

In a many-sided discussion with reporters of the radiation and bomb testing controversy, Eisenhower made these other points:

—He did not believe that this country ever again would test a hydrogen bomb the size of the largest weapon exploded in the Pacific March 1, 1954. That blast caused widespread, damaging fallout.

—He did not rule out further tests of smaller hydrogen weapons, however, pointing out that the H-bomb is one of the cleanest weapons devised by the government's nuclear scientists.

—He accepted the findings of the National Academy of Sciences that current radiation resulting from tests is not dangerous. He said that opposition to the tests now being voiced by numerous other scientists seems to have a degree of organization behind it.

—He expressed the opinion that many scientists now disagreeing with the government on fallout are not geneticists or physicists and are, in fact, out of their field of competence.

Discusses Khrushchev Broadcast

Eisenhower opposed halting bomb tests pending an ironclad disarmament agreement banning, for all time, the use of such weapons in war. Without such an agreement, he said it would be foolish to fall behind any other nation and this means that testing will have to continue.

Other news conference highlights:

—The President said the proposal of Communist Party boss Nikita Khrushchev for withdrawal of all foreign forces from Germany might be an effort to drive a wedge between the Western Allies. He noted that Khrushchev in his televised interview Sunday, said nothing about the reunification of Germany.

—He expressed the hope that Khrushchev's statement favoring a first-step agreement toward full disarmament reflected real progress toward permanent peace.

—As for "equal time" on the Russian radio and television to answer Khrushchev, the President said that if the Soviet Union wanted to ask an American to appear over its facilities and guaranteed that there would be no jamming,

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

My grace is sufficient for thee.—2 Cor. 12:9.

Hidden Taxes

Editorial — BY BRUCE BLOSSAT

This has been a year for loud complaint from the citizen-taxpayer over government spending and taxes.

According to the Tax Foundation, an outfit which makes a business of studying the country's tax load, the noise would be even louder if most taxpayers realized exactly how much of their income goes for taxes of all kinds.

The foundation says the average U. S. citizen plunks out a third of his total take in federal, state and local levies. This of course includes what are generally called hidden taxes, those paid by other sources but passed on to the citizen in the form of higher prices for the goods he buys.

In the foundation's view, the citizen as an individual is the only real taxpayer, since it insists corporate levies are shifted off industry's back.

If this calculation be accepted as valid, then the price of the ordinary egg to the American consumer contains 100 taxes, while a man's suit has 116, a loaf of bread 151 and the cost of a house some 600.

Observations of this sort have been made before. The difference in 1957 seems to be that taxpayers are paying more attention to them. They're wondering whether what they get in government service justifies the burdens. They're wondering how much more tax pressure the egg can take before being crushed.

FBI Offers

Some Grim Facts

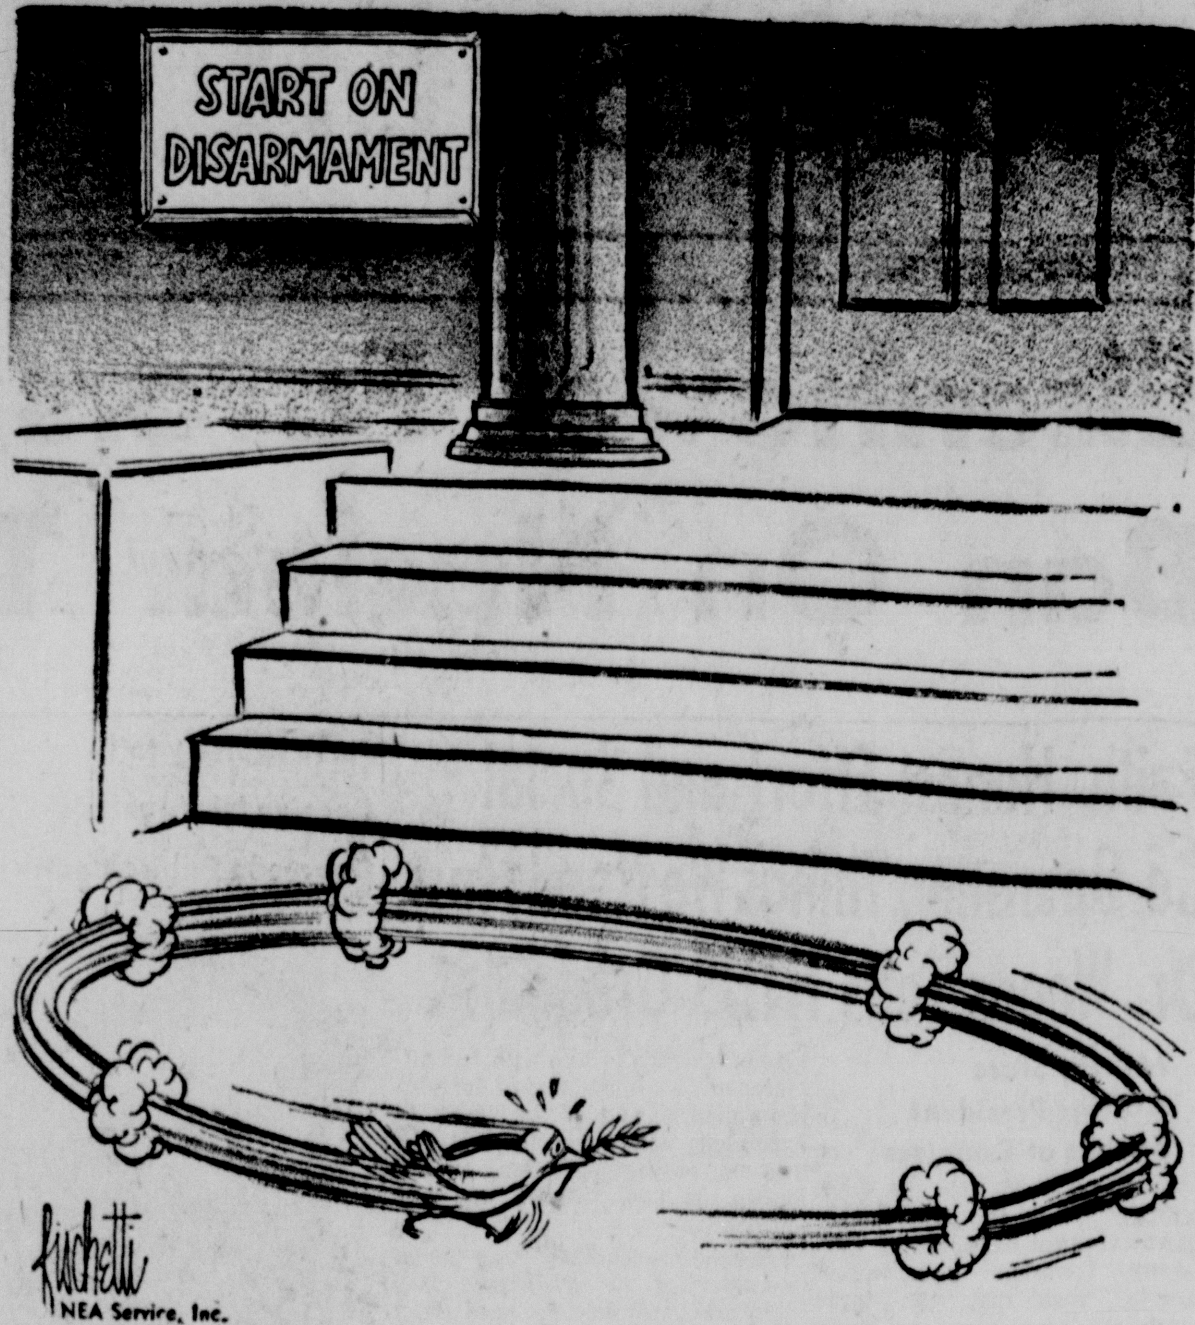

Americans can take no comfort at all from the FBI's latest report on major crimes in this country. They were up 13.3 per cent in 1956 over 1955, and altogether have soared four times as fast as the population since 1950.

There always seem to be those who stoutly resist the idea that crime in America is truly on the increase. They like to suggest that the nation's huge population boost accounts for everything. The facts indicate otherwise.

The 2,500,000 major crimes committed last year are the positive proof that a bigger and bigger share of our people are indulging in wrong-doing. The unhappiest part of the story, of course, is that youths under 18 played a very heavy role in the total picture.

In 1956 the number of persons in this age category rose only 3 per cent in cities, yet arrests in this group rose 17.3 per cent. Near-

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says: Dulles' Son-in-Law Entertained By Dictator Trujillo; Trujillo Got Help From High Places In Increasing His Sugar Quota; Ike's Brother-in-Law Got Interesting Dominican Sugar Deal.

WASHINGTON. — This column was the first to reveal that ex-Congressman Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., had been hired by Dictator Trujillo of the Dominican Republic. It's only fair, therefore, to report on other relatives of those in high places who have been playing footsie with the Caesar of the Caribbean.

The list includes: 1. The son-in-law of John Foster Dulles, Robert Hinshaw.

2. The brother-in-law of President Eisenhower, Colonel Gordon Moore.

3. The ex-assistant secretary of state in charge in Latin American Affairs, Henry Holland. Trujillo's wealth is the Dominican sugar industry. He owns most of the sugar mills in his country. It was no accident, therefore, that Congress last year increased the quota of Dominican sugar admitted to the United States. It took this action despite opposing pressure of beet sugar growers in our Rock Mountain states and cane growers in Louisiana.

Here is part of the backstage story of what happened:

In 1954, Dulles' son-in-law offered to help Trujillo get his sugar quota increased. The dictator then sent his personal plane, a luxurious flying yacht, the "San Cristobal," to fly Dulles, daughter, Mrs. Robert Hinshaw, her husband, and children to the Dominican Republic.

For three months the Hinshaws stayed at the beautiful seashore Hotel Jaragua, running up a bill of no small proportions. Hinshaw tried to promote several deals with the dictator, finally overstayed his welcome. Trujillo paid his bills.

Hinshaw, when queried by this column as to why he had not registered as a foreign agent, as rely 46 per cent of arrests for major crimes in cities were of youngsters under 18.

The figures are hardly something to be laughed off with the comment that "boys will be boys."

quired if an American works for or accepts funds to represent a foreign government, said that he did not do any work for Trujillo.

Informed that some people registered if they received expenses from a foreign government, Hinshaw admitted that his expenses were paid, but did not agree that he should have registered.

Under the Foreign Registration Act there is nothing wrong about an American working for a foreign government. But it specified that the American public has a right to know when someone is so working. The law first of Secretary of State Dulles has been registered in the past as working for various foreign governments; also the law firm of ex-Secretary Dean Acheson. It is a criminal offense not to register.

Note — The Justice Department recently indicted John Frank, an ex-FBI agent who wired Trujillo's palace for sound, for failing to register as a foreign agent.

EX-STATE DEPARTMENT OFFICIAL

One former high official who definitely helped put across Trujillo's sugar quota increase is able Henry Holland, former top official in the State Department for Latin American Affairs. Holland scarcely got out of the State Department when he headed for the Dominican Republic. He not only made several trips, but got on the payroll of Trujillo's mining consultant, William Pawley, the former ambassador to Brazil.

It can be argued that Holland gets his fees directly from Pawley, therefore doesn't have to register. Likewise Franklin Roosevelt Jr. might have argued that he got his fees through Charles Patrick Clark, lobbyist for both Franco and Trujillo. However, Roosevelt registered.

IKE'S BROTHER-IN-LAW

The most highly connected of all Americans in Trujillo-land is Ike's brother-in-law, Colonel Gordon Moore. The colonel, now retired from the Army, is a genial soul, frequently at the White House. His appearances in the nationwide telecasts haven't hurt his prestige in Washington where much depends on influence. Colonel Moore has made several trips to the tightly controlled island of the Caribbean; has sometimes taken his family along. During one of these trips he negotiated a highly complicated sugar deal with the American-owned but Trujillo-tolerated South Puerto-Rican Sugar Company.

This involved 7,000 tons of "green sugar," which Moore got shipped into the USA as hog feed. This classification meant first that the sugar was never counted against Dominican quota. Second, it passed through customs with a cheaper tariff rate. As blackstrap molasses for cattle or hog feed it paid a duty of 1.5 cents per hundred pounds instead of 66.5 cents per hundred charged for green sugar. Later the U. S. Customs Bureau reversed itself and demanded the 66.5 cent rate on Moore's shipment.

Later a considerate Congress passed a law exempting "green sugar" from the high tariff rate, though too late to affect Moore's shipment.

But even more considerate friends in Congress then introduced a bill which would give Colonel Moore's shipment special treatment. It would make the lower tariff rate retroactive to June 30, 1955. By happy coincidence this would apply chiefly to Colonel Moore, since his 7,000-ton import is the only major shipment affected.

This helpful bill was introduced by Senator Jack Kennedy, Democratic aspirant for President, and Congressman Phil Philbin, another Democrat, also of Massachusetts. Later Kennedy took his name off the bill, but Congressman Hale Boggs of Louisiana, another Democrat, promptly put his name on instead.

Note—Those connected with the green sugar deal claim Moore merely acted as a broker, that the purchase was made by the Robert G. Lynch Company. However, Lynch is hired by Moore and occupies the same offices with him.

Senate Approves Narcotics Control Division; House Kills License Bill

SPRINGFIELD (AP) — The Senate today passed a series of ten bills creating a new state division of narcotics control and setting stiffer penalties for sale and possession of narcotics.

The House, meanwhile, killed a bill that would have put distribution of motor vehicle license plates on a county basis instead of the present centralized system under the secretary of state.

The narcotics bills were recommended by a special legislative commission which studied the problem over the past two years and were, in effect, a complete overhaul of existing narcotics laws.

The new narcotics division would have authority to establish clinics for detection and treatment of narcotics users.

The bills also provided for seizure of boats, airplanes and motor vehicles used in illegal drug traffic.

Congress Seeks Swift Action to Protect FBI Files

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressmen today called for swift action to protect secret Federal Bureau of Investigation files in light of the new Supreme Court ruling on government trials.

The court ruled 7-1 Monday that the government must abandon criminal prosecutions in cases where it does not want to produce secret FBI reports by witnesses it puts on the stand.

Justice Tom Clark, a former attorney general in the Truman administration, dissented and urged congressional action. He said if the ruling stood "those intelligence agencies of our government engaged in law enforcement may as well close up shop."

Rep. Kenneth B. Keating (N.Y.), ranking GOP member of the House Judiciary Committee, said the court decision "poses a very serious problem" that Congress ought to take up at once.

Sen. Karl Mundt (R-S.D.), a veteran investigator of subversives, said he agreed with Clark.

"This makes it mandatory for Congress to pass the proper legislation so prosecution of wrong-doers can continue," he said. "If the policy indicated by the Supreme Court ruling were to go into effect it would entirely destroy the effectiveness of our internal security system thereby exposing us not only to Communists and subversives but to murderers, kidnapers and assorted other criminals."

It was hardly the moment, thought Allan, to disillusion the honest Jules of his evident belief that Seknou would henceforward be a wholly independent state, perhaps under Allan himself as Sultan. The best to be hoped for at the moment was that de la Meziere would not insist on a complete conference of explanation here and now.

"Before we discuss details, Monsieur Fernana, of our future arrangements, I want first to be assured that your men are on their way to their homes, and then to be taken to the Gendarmerie. Can you give the first assurance?"

"I can promise you that the men will go home as soon as I say the word," said Jules. "They have accepted my command; but they are anxious to see Colonel Larg in person. The men are waiting near the hospital to see Colonel Larg. I hope that he will not refuse to speak to them."

It was fairly obvious that de la Meziere and Jules had each a different conception of the situation, and of the position of Allan himself. Whether Georges had injected some subtle nuance into what he had said; or whether Jules was deliberately misunderstanding the terms which had been made: Jules was deliberately paying more respect to Allan than to de la Meziere. Allan ventured to say rapidly to de la Meziere:

"Let me speak to them; I know what's worrying you, and I won't say anything silly."

"Very well, then," said de la Meziere.

To the south of the hotel, where the road ran out into open country, stood a little hillock; and around it were ranged several hundred Seknougaïs fighting men. To this hillock Jules led Allan; and behind them Allan could hear the eager voice of Georges chattering away to the other notables, while de la Meziere talked in courtly, measured tones to Ruhl ben Ishak. The warriors gazed up at Allan with unceasing curiosity. They were awed and silent, but there were no mistaking that their mood was one of almost superstitious reverence; or that they were prepared to accept him as the rightful head of their clan.

They wore every conceivable dress, and bore an endless variety of weapons; some had grey beards and some were little more than boys; but all looked to be formidable fighters, and veritable descendants of corsairs. These were the progeny of the men who, under the Kaid, had ravaged most of the Mediterranean, and who, as pitiless as their leader, had made themselves dreaded even by their own kind.

Jules and Georges and the other notables were crowding round him and shaking his hand. He longed to hurry to the Gendarmerie, but their way was impeded by the crowd breaking its ranks and thronging about him. Old grey-beards easily recognizable as the community bores, which Jules and Georges were good-humoredly translating in abbreviated forms.

But Allan could wait no longer to go and see Mollie, and said as much to Jules. Jules lifted up his voice and shouted out something in Berber. At that the crowd parted a little, but it was fully obvious that the crowd intended to come and see Mollie too. With Allan and de la Meziere and the notables in the center, the whole mob moved along the road toward the Gendarmerie, capering as it went. So much had the temper of the people changed that they displayed neither fears nor resentment.

From that moment the shadows of the fighting dropped away; and at that moment also Brisebarre appeared on the balcony, sized up the temper of the crowd, saw Allan, waved, and slipped out of sight.

A minute later, Allan and Mollie, oblivious to everyone around them, were in each other's arms. If Allan was aware of Brisebarre and de la Meziere shaking hands with each other beside him, he gave no sign of it; and he asked nobody's permission when he led Mollie out into the garden, past the office door.

"What on earth have you been up to?" asked Mollie at last. "And how on earth have you managed to stage a triumphal entry?"

"It's a long story. I must tell it to you some time, but not now. The main thing is that everything's over, pretty well, bar shouting, and turned out better than I could ever have dreamed."

It was 11 o'clock in the morning. Allan and Mollie were lingering over breakfast in the Gendarmerie garden; they had plenty to tell each other. De la Meziere and Brisebarre were closeted in Billon's office. The French soldiers had just marched up from the beach, and had relieved the police sentries on the balcony and at the barricades. The police sentries were sitting about in their barrack rooms, discussing loudly and without undue modesty the events of the siege. In the road, although most of the Seknougaïs had vanished, unusually large crowds.

The notables had vanished, but a note had been handed in for Allan at the Gendarmerie door, signed by Georges to say that they were all in the hotel, and would be happy to see Allan. They suggested that he bring Mollie too.

"I suppose we're free to mingle with them now," said Allan. "I don't suppose de la Meziere or anybody else would try to persuade us now that they're 'not nice to know,' as poor Billon felt he had to. I'll send a line to say that we'll both be over later."

Schoolmarm of Year Says Bright Children Neglected

By GAY PAULEY

United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK (UP) — A Missouri teacher, named schoolmarm of the year, says we make too much to do about Johnny's reading problems.

"Johnny CAN read," said Mrs. Mary Field Schwarz. "And we ARE teaching the children the three R's, despite all reports otherwise."

Mrs. Schwarz, a pretty, auburn-haired woman of 38 and the mother of a 15-year-old boy, teaches 36 third-graders in Independence, Mo., former President Truman's home town.

Her classroom is a once-condemned church renovated to accommodate the overflow of pupils from Bristol School, Independence. Shared 1957 Title

She shared the 1957 "teacher of the year" title with Guy Bizzell, a high school speech and English instructor in Austin, Tex. The award is made each year by the U. S. Office of Education and McCall's Magazine, which choose from nominations by state departments of education. This is the first year teachers have shared it.

Both winners received trips to Washington, where they called on President Eisenhower and Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Mrs. Schwarz came on to Manhattan for a four-day visit, but left her husband, an electronics engineer, and son to run the house. "Children start learning to read from the time they can focus on symbols," said Mrs. Schwarz. "Some of my third graders have a seventh and eighth grade reading ability."

She conceded that some youngsters reach high school still slow with the three R's. "I don't know why," she said. "It may be the child. It may be the teacher's faulty methods."

No Way Unorthodox
Her own teaching is in no way unorthodox. "I've never figured out what progressive education is anyway," she said.

"But I do know that with the old-fashioned basics we must provide children with much more. A child's whole horizon is broader today."

"Teaching cannot stand still." The schoolmarm of 1957 believes the teacher shortage and overcrowded classrooms are just two of education's problems.

"Our biggest failure is in neglect of the bright child," said Mrs. Schwarz. "We've done so much to help the retarded, and let the bright ones drift along. Yet they are our future scientists, inventors, writers, leaders."

Eisenhower's Son Is Assigned to White House Staff

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower's son, Maj. John Eisenhower, has been assigned temporarily as a White House staff officer working under the direction of his father.

Would-Be Burglar Loses Dignity and Pants in Exhaust Fan

CHICAGO (UP) — A would-be burglar had to be pulled from an exhaust fan in a Chicago tavern early today, and lost both his dignity and his pants in the process.

Arthur Bonnaville, 28, told firemen who came to rescue him that he climbed on the garage of the Tiny Tap, stepped onto an air conditioner, fell headfirst into the fan and became trapped — half in and half out.

In efforts to extricate himself, he said, he lost his pants.

Ten Pupils Graduated
Thursday Evening

The Brushy Community Consolidated grade school commencement, held Thursday evening, was well attended and the ten graduates received diplomas. Mrs. Wilma Gidcomb was their teacher.

Members of the class sang songs and speeches were made by the valedictorian, Overton Hall Jr., and the salutatorian, Jeanette Alecci. David Karnes gave a reading, and Judy McElrath sang a solo.

Rev. Vol. Sittig pronounced the invocation and benediction and Mr. Gidcomb played the piano for the processional and recessional.

The commencement address, given by C. R. Gardner, county superintendent of schools, who began his teaching career in this school, challenged the class to aspire to greater experiences. He asked them to leave the beaten path and seek new fields of activity to dare to be a Columbus or an Edison, to dream dreams and make them a reality.

School was dismissed Monday for the summer vacation.

Friday, May 31, there was a basket dinner held at the school and a forty foot table was required to hold the food. Games were played during the morning hours and the P. T. A. provided soda pop and ice cream cups for everyone. The ball game was won by the fathers over the sons in the afternoon. Cash prizes were awarded by Mrs. Marie Jones, school principal, to all winners, with the compliments of the P. T. A.

Rev. George D. Jenkins preached the homecoming sermon at the Pleasant Ridge Methodist church on Sunday. He preached at Mt. Moriah Sunday evening, serving as the new pastor for Mt. Moriah Lone Oak charge.

Mt. Moriah began its vacation Bible school at 7 p. m. Monday. Sessions are held each evening and all children of the community are invited to attend. David Lewis, Sunday school superintendent and teachers extend this invitation.

Rev. and Mrs. Dean Guye, Darlene, and Mrs. A. J. Drott were guests Wednesday night and Thursday, of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Drott of East St. Louis.

Mr. and Mrs. Leiborn Lockwood and Sandra, of Pontiac, Mich., were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lockwood, Thursday to Sunday.

Rev. and Mrs. Irvin Broden had as guests over the week end, their daughter's families, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Tate and children and Mr. and Mrs. William Jarvis.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Edwards and children were guests of Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Riegel Thursday.

IPAC Attacks Critical Report On State Relief

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—Members of the Illinois Public Aid Commission today slammed back at a critical report prepared by a research firm for a legislative committee studying the state's relief programs.

George B. McKibbin, Chicago, chairman of the IPAC, distributed a booklet which said the commission regarded the firm's report as "irresponsible, unscholarly, lacking in perception and extremely biased."

The report was prepared by Strodel Associates, Evanston, for a committee headed by Sen. W. Russell Arrington (R-Evanston).

McKibbin's statement also said the commission found the report "arrogant" and prepared with "unbelievable bias."

He said a table included in the Strodel report tended to indicate that the average monthly grant to families on the aid to dependent children program was $329 a month.

Actually, McKibbin's statement said, there are only 130 families of the 126,000 coming under the program who get grants of $300. The average, he said, is $143.

McKibbin's statement also said "Strodel has in no way substantiated the existence of widespread fraud" in the relief programs or the "need for reorganization of the fraud unit" of the IPAC.

He also criticized the fact that the report was released to the press before the commission saw it.

"We deplore and protest the irresponsible remarks and ill-founded conclusions used by Strodel and associates in an attempt to discredit this commission and its staff. Such flagrant disregard of common decency cannot be condoned," McKibbin's statement said.

Arrington turned around and took offense at McKibbin's statement. Rising to a point of personal privilege in the Senate, he said the McKibbin statement was "a charge made against my integrity" and that "I resent it."

As a result of the Strodel report and his committee's investigations, Arrington has introduced a series of bills to limit relief payments, abolish the Public Aid Commission and replace it with a department headed by a single director and otherwise overhaul the relief program.

He has charged the IPAC "just isn't doing the job."

Former Stonefort Student Wins U. M. Scholarship

Larry Joe King

Larry Joe King, former pupil in the Stonefort high school, now a high school senior at Milford high school of Clyde, Mich., was one of 485 Michigan high school students to receive a University of Michigan Regents-Alumni scholarship. The announcement was made by Walter B. Rea, dean of men and chairman of the committee on university scholarships, Wednesday.

Larry Joe is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lowell King of 352 Meribah street, Clyde, Mich., formerly of Stonefort, and his scholarship is for the University college of Engineering.

The scholarship is equivalent to semester fees for his freshman year and is renewable for the normal length of the degree program in which the student enrolls so long as his academic record justifies its renewal.

Martin Expects Congress to Plug Until August 15

By United Press

House Republican Leader Joseph W. Martin Jr. said today that Congress may have to keep plugging until Aug. 15.

Martin and other Republican leaders conferred with President Eisenhower on the current status of his legislative program. They gave him little comfort on money matters.

Congress has a lot to do before it can quit for the year, and there have been predictions it won't get away before September. Martin said he thought that too pessimistic. He said mid-August "might not be too far" from the adjournment mark.

The Bureau of Mines has valued 1956 production of 500,000,000 tons of bituminous coal at $2,425,000,000.

Father Plans to Appeal Marine Son's Conviction

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The father of an 18-year-old Marine private who was court-martialed for refusing to obey an order to accept a rifle plans to take the case to Washington, D. C.

Harold E. Green, father of Pvt. Peter H. Green, of Evanston, Ill., announced his intentions to appeal his son's conviction Tuesday before leaving here for home.

Young Green was sentenced to four months at hard labor last week by a Marine court-martial board at Camp Pendleton, Calif., for refusing to accept a rifle from a supply sergeant. Green claimed he was a conscientious objector.

"We have always taught our youngsters that it is wrong to kill," said the elder Green, whose 25-year-old son, Richard, served two years in the Army.

The father, vice-president and executive editor of Printer's Ink magazine, said his son plans to enlist in a branch of the service offering noncombatant service should he be discharged from the Marines.

As soon as he receives transcripts of the court-martial from the Marine Corps, the elder Green said he will take the case to Washington.

"For some reason the Marine Corps is taking what seems a long time to prepare a copy for us," he said.

'Right to Know' Bill Approved by House, 116 to 4

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—The House Tuesday passed 116-4 a "right-to-know" bill to ban closed meetings by state and local government agencies, school boards and other government units.

The bill now goes to the Senate. It is sponsored by Rep. Paul Simon (D-Troy) and is based on a model bill proposed by Sigma Delta Chi, national professional journalism fraternity.

Simon is publisher of a weekly newspaper at Troy.

The bill provides that all meetings of state agencies, counties, townships, cities, villages, school boards and all governmental boards, bureaus, commissions "which are supported in whole or in part by public funds" shall be open to the public.

It exempts deliberations of the Illinois Commerce Commission and the Parole and Pardon Board at which decisions are made.

Also exempt are meetings at which the sale or acquisition of real estate is being considered. This is to prevent speculation in real estate.

No Political Days For State Fair

SPRINGFIELD — For the second year in a row there will not be any designated "political days" at the 1957 State Fair.

Gov. William G. Stratton said today neither the Republicans nor Democrats will have a special "day" at the fair this year.

The political days, in which the two parties vied to outdo each other in attendance, were dropped from the fair program for the first time last year because the fair came during the national nominating conventions.

The "days" designated for this year's fair are: Friday, Aug. 9, Children's Day; Saturday, Aug. 10, Labor Day; Sunday, Aug. 11, Veterans Day; Sunday, Aug. 12, Editors Day; Tuesday, Aug. 13, Springfield Day; Wednesday, Aug. 14, Thursday and Friday, Aug. 14-16, Harness Racing Days; Saturday, Aug. 17, Auto Racing Day; Sunday, Aug. 18, Motorcycle Racing Day.

interference or counter attractions to influence the Russian audience away — then somebody in the American government would be glad to accept such an invitation.

Fair Trial for Girard
—He advocated that big Republican Party contributors, who are holding out now because they do not like the size of the federal budget, look up the actual facts rather than listening so much to partisan speeches. He invited these Republicans to ponder what the budget would be today if the government had followed the plans laid down by the last Democratic administration.

—As for a pending proposal in Congress to grant a jury trial for persons cited for contempt in civil rights cases, Eisenhower said he agrees with the late President William Howard Taft that an effort to put a jury trial between a court order and the enforcement of that order is an invitation to anarchy.

—He said that if Army Specialist SC William S. Girard suffers from any injustice in the Japanese courts, the case will be taken up promptly on diplomatic levels. The President, however, expressed the belief that the Japanese courts will follow their record of the past in such cases and be eminently fair. Girard will be tried on a manslaughter charge for killing a Japanese woman with a shell casing on a firing range.

—He said that as long as the law requires it, there can be no American trade with Red China. But he thinks in the long run it may not be possible to prohibit such trade.

Boy, 13, Kills Playmate with Shotgun Over 12-Cent Debt

CLEVELAND, N. Y. (AP) — A 13-year-old boy admitted Tuesday night he killed his 12-year-old playmate with a shotgun because the victim refused to pay a 12-cent debt, police said.

Charles Worden said he used his father's double-barreled shotgun to settle his quarrel with Ronald Phelps, according to police. Ronald, whose face was shattered by one blast from the shotgun, died of loss of blood on the way to a hospital.

Worden was held for children's court.

Mt. Carmel Group Angered by Ouster of Principal

MOUNT CARMEL, Ill. (AP) — A group of citizens protesting the alleged firing of a grade school principal distributed petitions Tuesday night asking for removal of the entire seven-man Unit 348 school board here.

Mrs. James Voight, chairman of the meeting attended by some 200 persons, said the board "no longer has the confidence of the public" and said the board has not kept the public properly informed.

The group said the petition will be presented to the county superintendent of schools. It asked that an election be called within 30 days to name successors for the board members it hopes to oust.

Vilas Wood resigned as principal of South School about a month ago. He said later that he was told to resign or be fired. He said the board gave "uncooperativeness and lack of discipline" as reasons for asking for his resignation.

The school board has made no comment.

Members of veterans groups have sided with Wood in the controversy. Wood is unopposed as candidate for commander of the Mount Carmel American Legion post.

Ike Message to Be Sent for Truman Library Dedication

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower plans to send a message next month to the dedication ceremonies for the Truman Library at Independence, Mo.

The library, built with contributions of $1,750,000 to house former President Truman's private papers, will be dedicated July 6, and turned over to the federal government.

Franklin G. Floete, head of the General Services Administration will accept the building in behalf of the government and was expected to read Eisenhower's message.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said Tuesday he did not know whether the President's message would be directed to Truman or simply sent in connection with the dedication ceremonies.

Chief Justice Earl Warren will be the principal speaker at Independence.

Senate Passes Bill To Boost Pay of Governor, Officials

SPRINGFIELD — The Senate today passed and sent to the House without a dissenting vote bills to raise the pay of the governor and other top state officials.

The pay raises, if passed in the House and signed by the governor, cannot take effect during the present terms of the persons involved.

The bills would raise the governor's pay from $25,000 a year to $30,000; and the lieutenant governor from $12,000 to $16,000.

Department directors under the governor would be raised from $12,000 to $15,000; and their assistants would be boosted from $8,000 to $12,000.

The Youth Commission chairman would get a hike to $13,000, the state adjutant general to $12,000, Commerce Commission members to $15,000.

Other pay raises would give members of the Youth Commission $10,000; mine examining officers $3,600; the civil defense director $12,000; the superintendent of industrial planning and development $10,000; the Liquor Control Commission chairman $8,000; and commission members $7,000.

Housewife Fatally Injured in Fall Into 65-Foot Well

STATESVILLE, N. C. (AP) — A middle-aged housewife went to the well Tuesday to draw a bucket of water.

As she lowered the pail Mrs. Ellen Dowell, 54, apparently missed her footing and toppled 65 feet to the well bottom.

Her husband, Thomas, heard her cries and summoned a next door neighbor, Andy Barker.

Barker maneuvered his auto wreckers rig to the side of the well and had himself lowered to the injured woman.

Barker found Mrs. Dowell sitting on about 12 inches of water.

"She was still conscious but she looked to be in pretty bad shape, maybe shock," Barker said later.

Barker tied a towing cable around Mrs. Dowell's waist and had her lifted from the well.

One hour later Mrs. Dowell died of her injuries in a hospital.

Select Candidates For County Clerk In Johnson County

VIENNA, Ill. (AP) — More than 2,000 persons turned out in Johnson County for a primary election Monday for county clerk.

Proposal Against Agreements Top Business for VFW

CHICAGO (AP) — A proposal to prevent the government from entering into additional status of forces agreements is expected to highlight the Illinois Veterans of Foreign Wars convention June 13.

State Commander John Englander said Tuesday that "it should now be obvious that legislation is needed to prevent the executive branch of government from entering into more agreements such as the one we apparently now have with Japan."

He said the Girard case would be the "prime order of business" at the convention.

The Defense Department, and the State Department are selling American servicemen down the river, Englander said. "Whoever made the status of forces treaty with Japan has bartered away the constitutional rights of an American soldier."

GI William Girard, 21, Ottawa, is to be tried by a Japanese court for the slaying of a Japanese woman.

Injured Soldier Fails to Recognize Korean War Bride

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — Specialist 3rd Class Havis W. Cherry sat up in his hospital bed Tuesday and looked at his Korean war bride, who had just ended a 9,000-mile journey to his bedside, "as if she were someone he had seen before."

Mrs. Tae Moon Cherry, 24, arrived in Hot Springs Tuesday after the American Red Cross sponsored her trip from Taegu, Korea, last week. Cherry was severely injured in an automobile accident near his Monticello, Ark., home May 15.

Mrs. Cherry and their one-year-old son Marvin spent about 10 minutes with Cherry Tuesday.

Col. Paul Kiehl, chief of surgery at the Army-Navy Hospital in Hot Springs, said Cherry sat up and stared at his wife "as if she were someone he had seen before."

"However," Kiehl said, "I don't think he actually knew her as his wife." Mrs. Cherry smiled and mopped her husband's brow. She spoke to him but his answers were not coherent.

Attend Metropolitan Insurance Meeting at French Lick Springs

D. H. Hiller and Charles Miley went to French Lick Springs, Ind., to attend a business conference of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. in the French Lick-Sheridan hotel, today.

Mrs. Hiller, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar B. Dickey of Carmi and Mr. and Mrs. Guy Hill of Shawneetown, also are attending the conference.

The men had an outstanding sales and service record last year and rank among the top members of the 25,000 field representatives in the United States and Canada.

House Supports Measure to Ban Sparklers

SPRINGFIELD (AP) — It looked like the Fourth of July in the Illinois House today as the membership voted, 102-26, in support of a bill that would include sparklers in the ban on fireworks.

The House vote overrode a committee report against the bill and thus saved the measure from automatic death.

The bill now will be placed on the House calendar for a later vote by the full House.

During debate on the measure, Rep. Harry Semrow (D-Chicago) lit two sparklers and held them against pieces of wood to demonstrate their dangers.

The sparklers ignited the wood. The bill has already passed the senate.

Republican Majority Leader John against the bill and said sparklers should be maintained as a traditional part of July 4th celebrations.

One member told Lewis that if he was interested in teaching his children patriotism he should teach them to sing the national anthem rather than have them play with sparklers.

The bill has the support of the Association for the Blind.

Young Farm Couple Drowns

WOODSTOCK, Ill. (AP) — A young farm couple, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Kames, drowned early today in a midnight cruise party accident on the Fox River.

Three other persons were rescued when the boat in which the group was riding overturned.

They were identified as Joseph Flicke, owner of the boat, McHenry; Mrs. Jean Niska, McHenry, and William Kattner, Spring Grove.

Firemen recovered the bodies of Kames, 29, and his wife, Marion, 26, a short time after the accident.

State Increases Maximum Charge For Persons in Mental Hospitals

SPRINGFIELD (AP) — The Public Welfare Department today announced an increase from $60 a month to $81 a month in maximum charges for care and treatment of mental hospital patients.

Welfare Director Dr. Otto L. Bettag said, however, that although the maximum was increased, the new rate schedule would be lower, and in some cases, eliminate charges to persons in low income groups.

For example, he said, the present charge is $12 a month made when the liable relative has one dependent and a gross income of $260 a month.

Under the new rate schedule, he said, the charge in such a case would be only $3 a month.

A person with one dependent and a gross monthly income of $250-259 a month who now is charged $9 a month for a patient's care would not be required to pay anything under the new rate schedule.

A patient's spouse, parents or children are required to contribute to the cost of his care if they are able.

Bettag said payments are now being made for about 20 per cent of the 48,000 patients in Illinois' 11 state hospitals.

Of this number, he said, less than 10 per cent pay the maximum rate.

He said it was estimated the new rate schedule would bring in an additional $150,000 a year for the mental health fund.
